Prologue

"The play's the thing—"

The legitimate stage is an active agency for the dissemination of knowledge; its modern protege, "the movie", is especially well adapted for that function. Our High School as an educational institution therefore bears a basic relation to the stage and screen. This resemblance however, is twofold; through no other medium could the colorful high lights of school life be so vividly typified as they may be through the swift, ever-shifting kaleidoscope that is the theatre. The smybolism is accentuated in the following pages through metaphorical comparisons.

The directors of the drama, the camera men, and the school administration perform similar responsible duties. The accomplished senior in every sense of the word resembles the sophisticated star at the peak of a career. The rising star is portrayed by the brisk, energetic junior and the hopeful "soph".

The social organizations which lead us to both diversion and self-improvement have a parallel in those entertaining, moralistic comedies which were childhood's delight. The vivacious, plunging manner in which our athletes gain victories can be compared only to the "wild and wooly" tactics of the Wild West with its dashing cowboys and whooping "Injuns". The features, like the movie high lights, brilliantly reflect the color, the tone, and the spirit of the whole.

Here, then, is an imperishable, panoramic record of an important phase of our dramatic career. In future years when we shall be successful actors who have played life's tragic and comic roles, these pages will be highly reminiscent of the happy associations formed when we were amateur artists of the stage.

"Spring hangs her infant blossoms on the trees Rocked in the cradle of the western breeze."

—Cowper--Qirocinium

"And what is so rare as a day in June?

Then, if ever, come perfect days;

Then Heaven tries earth if it be in tune,

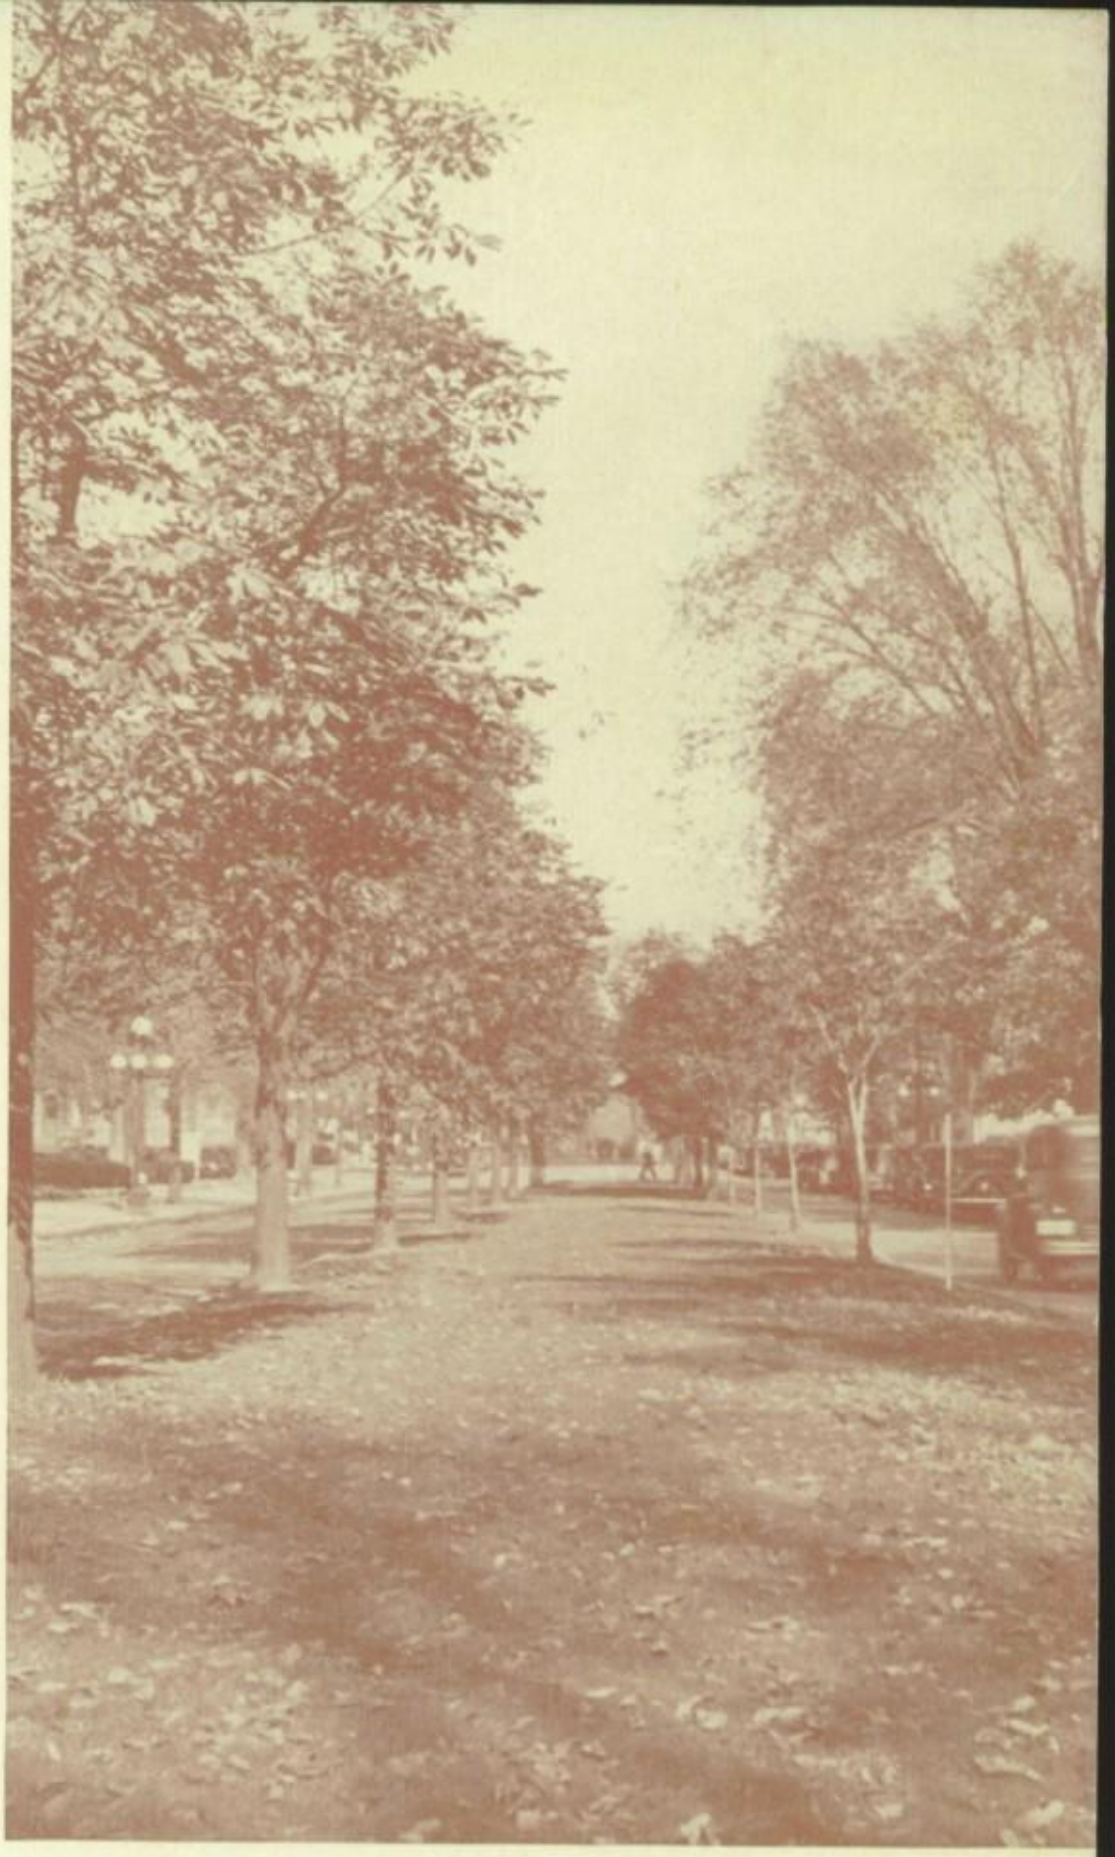
And over it softly her warm ear lays."

—Lowell--Vision of Sir Launfal

"Autumn wins you best by its mute

Appeal to sympathy for its decay."

—Browning--Paracelus



"In winter, when the dismal rain

Came down in slanting lines,

And wind, that grand old harper, smote

His thunder harp of pines."

—Smith--A Life Drama

Sonnet

In youth, when life's frail lantern flames so bright,
And each of his fair Carcassonne doth dream,
When smallest pleasure earns such lasting gleam
As placeth future grief beyond thy sight,
Is gladness some elusive dancing sprite—
A momentary madness—laughing scheme
To lead thee on until the hourglass' stream
Obscures the path to youth's fair beacon light?
'Tis faith that makes thy Carcassonne exist.
Respect thyself, believe, and dreams are real.
To joy the mind alone can hold the key.
When worries press and sadness doth persist,
Do thou attack thy work with new found zeal.

DIRECTOR'S..

Thou art a friend in truest guise,
My teacher and my counselor wise,
Who oft extends a guiding hand,
By kindly leading, to command.

Brightly looms my destiny
When shaped by hands
Of such as thee.

PRINCIPAL E. L. MOYER

"Hereafter he will make me know,
And I shall surely find,
He was too wise to err, and O,
Too good to be unkind."

MISS MARGARET COX

DEAN OF GIRLS

"She is good, she is merciful;
Her heart is kind, it seems;
She has all the regal makings
Of a true queen."

SUPERINTENDENT O. O. YOUNG

"That man is great, and he alone,
Who serves a greatness not his own,
For neither praise nor pelf;
Content to know and be unknown—whole in himself."

MR. HARRY A. CRAWFORD

DEAN OF BOYS

"Prompt sense of equity! To thee belongs
The swift redress of unexamined wrongs;
Eager to serve, the cause perhaps untried,
But always apt to choose the suffering side."

MR. JOHN A. AITCHISON

"Nature might stand up
And say to all the world, 'This was a man!'"

MR. HARRY ALDUS

"Whatever he did, was done with so much ease,
In him alone 'twas natural to please."

MISS RACHEL ANDERSON

"For never anything can be amiss
When simpleness and duty tender it."

MISS MARJORIE BABBITT

"For nature made her what she is
And never made anither!"

MISS FLO BELSHAW

"Pert from head to toe,
The symbol of her art."

MR. F. C. BOHANNON

"He was a man, take him for all in all,
I shall not look upon his like again."

MR. T. V. BROOKING

"His presence is enchantment,
You beg him not to go."

MR. ROLAND BURTON

"He ceased; but still their trembling ears retained
The deep vibrations of his witching song."

MISS CLARA CYPREANSEN

"Blue were her eyes as the fairy flax,
Her cheeks like the dawn of day."

MR. ROY DAMBERG

"Cheerfulness his way
Not just today, but everyday."

MR. ROSS FREEMAN

"So much one man can do,
That does both act and know."

"Take time enough, all other graces
Will soon fill up their proper places."

MR. E. E. JENNINGS

"And if the mind with clear conceptions glow,
The willing words in just expressions flow."

MR. EUGENE JOHNSON

"He is complete in feature and in mind,
With all good grace to grace a gentleman."

MISS FLORA LAMB

"There was a soft and pensive grace,
A cast of thought upon her face."

MR. ROY LANDON

"A little nonsense now and then,
Is relished by the wisest men."

MISS HELEN MOFFITT

"Her glossy hair was cluster'd o'er a brow
Bright with intelligence, and fair and smooth."

MISS HELEN MORSE

"Soft voiced tho' firm willed, Idealistic toward her fellow men."

MISS FRANCES MOSER

"Silence is described as golden,
But dreams are rainbow hued."

MISS ANNA M. NELSON

"She was good as she was fair,
None—none on earth above her."

MISS EDNA NICKEL

"She was a very queen, I think,
A queen from the West."

Soft smiles by human kindness bred!"

MR. CHARLES E. SMITH

"He seemed
For dignity composed and high exploit."

MISS RUTH STICKLE

"Mistress of words, we all agree,
And rhymes her thought in poetry."

MR. WAYNE SWINTON

"I profess not talking; only this,
Let each man do his best."

MISS RUTH SWANSON

"Blithe, we'll call her; happy, gay;
In this mood dressed day by day."

MRS. VELMA WHIPPLE

"Reproof on her lip,
But a smile in her eye."

MISS VELMA FAY WHITE

"My mind to me a kingdom is:
Such perfect joy therein I find."

MISS ALTA YOUNGBLOOD

"Noble by heritage, Generous and free."

Betty

MISS BETTY HUSTED

"She's pretty to walk with,
And witty to talk with."

Be your self

MISS FLORENCE LINDBERG

"As a friend she is true as the sun,
And her friends are many."

MISS GRACE TERRY

"Her voice as sweet as the music she played,
A gift of God, by Him made."

CHALK

O little piece of chalk
What mischief you can do!
The days I least have studied
My teacher uses you.

REEL II

MILDRED CARLSON

STAR

Knowledge is man's chief tool, and as such should always be kept in condition. There are some who neglect their tool and suffer it to rust from want of use. There are others who put their tool to such a limited use that such usage becomes habitual and leaves no opportunity for further advancement or development. Both conditions are deplorable and are to be avoided. Exercise your tool in variegated situations; the more complex they are, the more valuable your tool becomes, and thus more difficult situations may be met and overcome by means of it.

R. L.

EVELYN ADELMAN

The high repute, which she has gained
By study, never yet has waned.

MARY LOUISE ACHELPOHL

In the library if you ask for a book,
She'll point it out scarcely pausing to look.

NELLIE ALDERMAN

This "alderman" is not accused,
In politics stands not abused.

WARREN ALLEN

His last name might as well have been first;
Perhaps he would change them about if he durst.

WILMER ALLISON

"Kinky" was a football knight
Whose fame has risen to great height.

CAROLYN ANDERSON

If you could be as bold as I,
You would still be rather shy.

LaVERNE ANDERSON

When "Vernie" played a football game,
The other team looked rather lame.

MARJORIE ANDERSON

She was friendly as could be
Despite her rigid dignity.

RAYMOND ANDERSON

I rise in the morning before the sun
For I am a farmer with work to be done.

RUTH ANDERSON

It would indeed be very hard
To excel the grades on her report card.

SVEA ANDERSON

If there's one thing she can't do
We don't know what it is—do you?

RUTH ANNEGERS

An exceeding artistic artist is Ruth—
And who'll deny that that's the truth?

MARGARET APPLEGREN

"Apples green" are seldom sweet,
But here is one which is a treat.

MARIAN ARMFIELD

We're ever and ever so proud to say
That Marian's still our friend today.

DAVID ARNOLD

Ah, my good fellow, but don't you see
It's "all for the good of the family!"

RICHARD ARNOLD

Can't prove it by me, but so people say—
Teamwork and brainwork save many a day.

ELIZABETH AUSTIN

We wonder where she learned to smile—
She seems to do it all the while.

LILLIAN BADGETT

Modesty, when not an art,
Beats a path to every heart.

ROBERT BALDWIN

Thumpety-ump the drum he pounds
Drowning out all other sounds.

WILMA BANKS

Wilma drives a Buick "8",
And does she ever drive it straight!

MARIE BENSON

To hear her talk you'd think that she
Was unconcerned as she could be.

EUGENE BETTS

Out of California come
Mysterious gentlemen—here is one.

WILLIAM BOHAN

"Bill" knows everyone in town
From the mayor down to the lowest clown.

EUGENE BONHAM

He wrote some jingles null and void
Hoping a few would be enjoyed.

BRYCE BOWEN

He's really a professional magician
But just an amateur 'lectrician.

CLYDE BOTHAM

If Clyde's your friend, believe you me,
His friendship's strong as strong can be.

ROY BRECKENMAKER

This big man and his bigger ideas
In the business world should be a whiz.

LAWRENCE BROUILLETTE

"Peanuts"—a nickname which seems to fit
The boy who was too big (?) to hit.

EDNA BUCK

We have no desire for "passing the buck"—
To know her is truly to be in luck.

JOE BURFORD

Joseph, my boy, we're sure proud of you;
We have a suspicion, Virginia is too.

REBECCA CABEEN

This laughing example of sweet seventeen
Has practical knowledge in the "cabeen".

DALE CARLSON

Remember good-natured little Dale?
If he had been fat, he'd have been a wh——.

GLEN CARLSON

For popularity he made no bid
But such a Romeo could not be hid.

LILLIAN CARLSON

The Carlson family's proud to claim
Another honor for that name.

MARGARET CARLSON

Her countenance is sweet and fair
With dancing highlights in her hair.

MILDRED CARLSON

She's noted for a tender heart,
For clever posters, works of art.

LYNN CARMACK

He received a good-sized stack
Of letters addressed to "Miss Lynn Carmack".

WILLIAM CHANDLER

In "Jimmie" Hampton's Chevrolet
Chandler rode 'most every day.

MARIE CHANNEL

Her perseverence is worth emulation;
Marie commands our admiration.

EMMA CHARNOCK

In coining a "senior quotation" for Emma
We found ourselves in a slight dilemma.

CHARLES CLINE

'Tis no coincidence that "Chuck"
Rhymes with words like luck and pluck.

MARY CLINE

I'm in love with Mary Cline,
She says she'll be my Valentine.

LUCILLE COLE

One hundred pounds of fun and fury
Five feet, one in an awful hurry.

BENALDINE COLLURA

Languishing glances and glorified looks
That vie with the senoritas in books.

DARLINE CONNER

Darling is a name that's sweet
And suited to a lass that's neat.

MILDRED COOK

We hope her future's bright as day.
Just what 'twill be, we cannot say.

FRANK COOLEY

"Frankie" has a permanent wave
That's like himself—it won't behave.

EDITH COOPER

She had the last semester to play
Being already a "Senior A".

JUNE CORDELL

June is the name of the month of roses;
June is the girl to whom each heart proposes.

SAM COTTON

Sam was noted for his hair—
Like cotton it was light and fair (?).

DOROTHY COUGHLIN

Never known to miss her mark
Because she never shot in the dark.

RUTH COWAN

The versatility displayed by Ruth
Includes all talents—journalist to sleuth.

DORIS CRITES

To take a stroll indeed delights
The friendly heart of Doris Crites.

KATHERINE CUNNINGHAM

She smiled so broad it seemed as though
She wished to make her white teeth show.

HELEN DAHLBERG

I am one of the famous three
Made up of "Becky", Ruth and me.

ELEANOR DAILEY

Daily acquaintance with Eleanor shows
That friendship with such a one always grows.

MILTON DANIELSON

If Milton is like the ancient poet,
We must admit he doesn't show it.

PEARL DANIELSON

She is truly well-named a Pearl,
An industrious, conscientious girl.

WILLIAM DAUGHERTY

"Walter Witchhazel", sports writer of fame,
Recorded the plays of each basketball game.

JAMES DAVIS

Before the start of each tournament game
"Jimmie" could call the winner by name.

CRESS DEAL

The "New Deal" Roosevelt promised us
Didn't seem to cause much fuss.

LORAINE DEFOREST

If "de" means "of", is it true that Loraine
Came from a forest—of sugar cane?

SUE DEMPSEY

She plans to Sue Dempsey for quite a price
Cuz breeches of promise suits work out nice.

MARION DEWITT

Her diligent study of elocution
Did not break down her constitution.

EILEEN DICKERSON

They ask you, "Do you know Eileen?"
You answer, "That is readily seen".

LOUR DODGE

He can "lure" the lusty cheers
From our throats when he appears.

ROBERT DONNELLY

His only love—a baseball game—
He'd play it even in the rain.

ELIZABETH DORAN

Despite a certain inanition
Hers is still a high ambition.

MARY DUFFY

Mary liked (?) to take a test
Because from study 'twas a rest.

AUGUSTUS DUTTON

"Donk" has a right to be conceited,
But his modesty is undefeated.

RICHARD EAGLE

His eagle-eye for basketball
Made the score look very tall.

WERNER EDSON

This genius of the physics lab
Has thousands of dumb wise cracks on tab.

VIRGINIA EVANS

Here is personified perfection
For sugar is not the sweetest confection.

DOROTHY EWALT

On her report card was an "E"
(In spelling her name) and likewise, a "D".

EDNA FIELDS

Edna fields for Chicago Cubs
Makes the others look like dubs.

PAULINE FIFIELD

We can't recall where we have seen
A girl as lovely as Pauline.

JEAN FUHR

There were "fuhr" debaters years ago
And winning ability seems to grow.

RAYMOND FUNK

Ernest Raymond Funk says that he will run
After the next guy who makes his name a pun.

IMOGENE GALYEAN

As a bit of advice we'd like to say
Friendship with Imogene will repay.

BILL GARDNER

Here's a gardner, neat and trim;
Football and barbers mean nothing to him (?) .

ELIZABETH GILBERT

Queen Elizabeth couldn't surpass
The perpetual smile of this friendly lass.

BYRON GINN

"You say you saw him buyin' gin?"
"No, no, I say his name is Byron Ginn."

RICHARD GOLDSTONE

He ought to write rhymes by the dozen
If he has, as he says, an illustrious cousin.

JUNE GOLDSBERRY

Among the oboes of the band
June was sure to be on hand.

GALEN GREGG

The fortune-teller predicts for Galen
A fishing trip—he'll go a whalin'.

HELEN GRIFFITH

Helen never did anything wrong
Or even shady all her life long.

PAUL GUSTAFSON

He's like a tractor—rather slow—
But when he's started, sure to go.

RUTH GUSTAFSON

Ruth was never known to gad
And she was not the least bit bad.

FRED GUY

Fred's a minstrel of renown
With high repute all over town.

PAUL HALE

His honesty was never pointed out
Because 'twas never even once in doubt.

ROBERT HANCOCK

John Hancock was also a famous man
But "Bob" excells him in sleight of hand.

MARY JANE HAND

Give the little girl a "hand"
Sing her praises o'er the land.

ROBERT HANSON

Handsome is as Hanson does,
But he can't keep track of his many loves.

LLOYD HAWKINSON

His deep bass voice and long trombone
Produce full many a pleasing tone.

ROBERT HAWKINSON

If he had not kept to the background so,
He could have been the life of the show.

HAROLD HENDERSON

In the fifty yard dashes "Red" Henderson
Took fourteen steps and the races were won

THOMAS HENDERSON

"Sentimental Tommy" Henderson
Stole a pig and away he run.

EILEEN HENDRICKS

As an after-thought we'd like to add
That an even temper ne'er gets mad.

LOUISE HERLOCKER

"Louie" is the mistress of art,
And basketball, and affairs of the heart.

ELEANOR HERNDON

You may vote either "aye" or "nay"
But the "eyes" have it anyway.

WILLIAM HICKMAN

Propensity for books is fatal;
Apathy for dames is futile.

JOHN PAUL HICKS

John Paul Jones has a namesake famous
Whose curly hair makes us all grow envious.

JOSEPHINE HICKS

Mistress Hicks never kicks
When the trouble's hard to fix.

MARIE HICKS

She also taught herself to sew
And much of music does she know.

BETTY HIGGINS

"You say you saw Betty huggin' someone?"
"No, no! Here come Betty Higgins runnin'."

JEANETTE HIGGINS

This secret is no April Fool.
Don't tell—but once Jeannette skipped school.

EDWARD HINCHLIFF

Cupid used some good-sized darts,
And now you'll find some bleeding hearts.

WILLIAM HINCKLEY

As a king's courtier "Bill" would suffice
To look, to say, and do things nice.

REX HOLCOMB
In the champion tree-sitting episode
Rex was mistook for a little tree-toad.

FRANCES HOLTSCLAW
Her name is rather hard to spell
But we can do it very well.

CHARLOTTE HORNBAKER
Wherever she goes in a crowd
You'll hear her talking right out loud.

MARGARET HORTON
Moon and stars forget to gleam
When Margaret's smile begins to beam.

IONA HOWARD
She's not the kind of person who
Would ever criticize or "boo".

CLARENCE HUBBARD
As a controversial talker he'd excel
And hold his audience in a hushed spell.

VIRGINIA HUNTER
She's a "hunter" for the right
Keeping character in sight.

BARBARA JACKSON
Barbara never could sit still
No more than water'd run up hill.

CARLTON JENCKS
The most heroic men of all
By general rule are not so tall.

ALMA JOHNSON
She plays a basketball game that's neat,
Why, even the boys aren't half so fleet.

ANNABELLE JOHNSON
Her voice was always sweet and low
In charming accents soft and slow.

BETTY JOHNSON
If she had one giggle in a day,
We'll swear 'twas fifty anyway.

ELIZABETH A. JOHNSON
"Tibby" had lots of surplus pep
In ev'ry activity she kept in step.

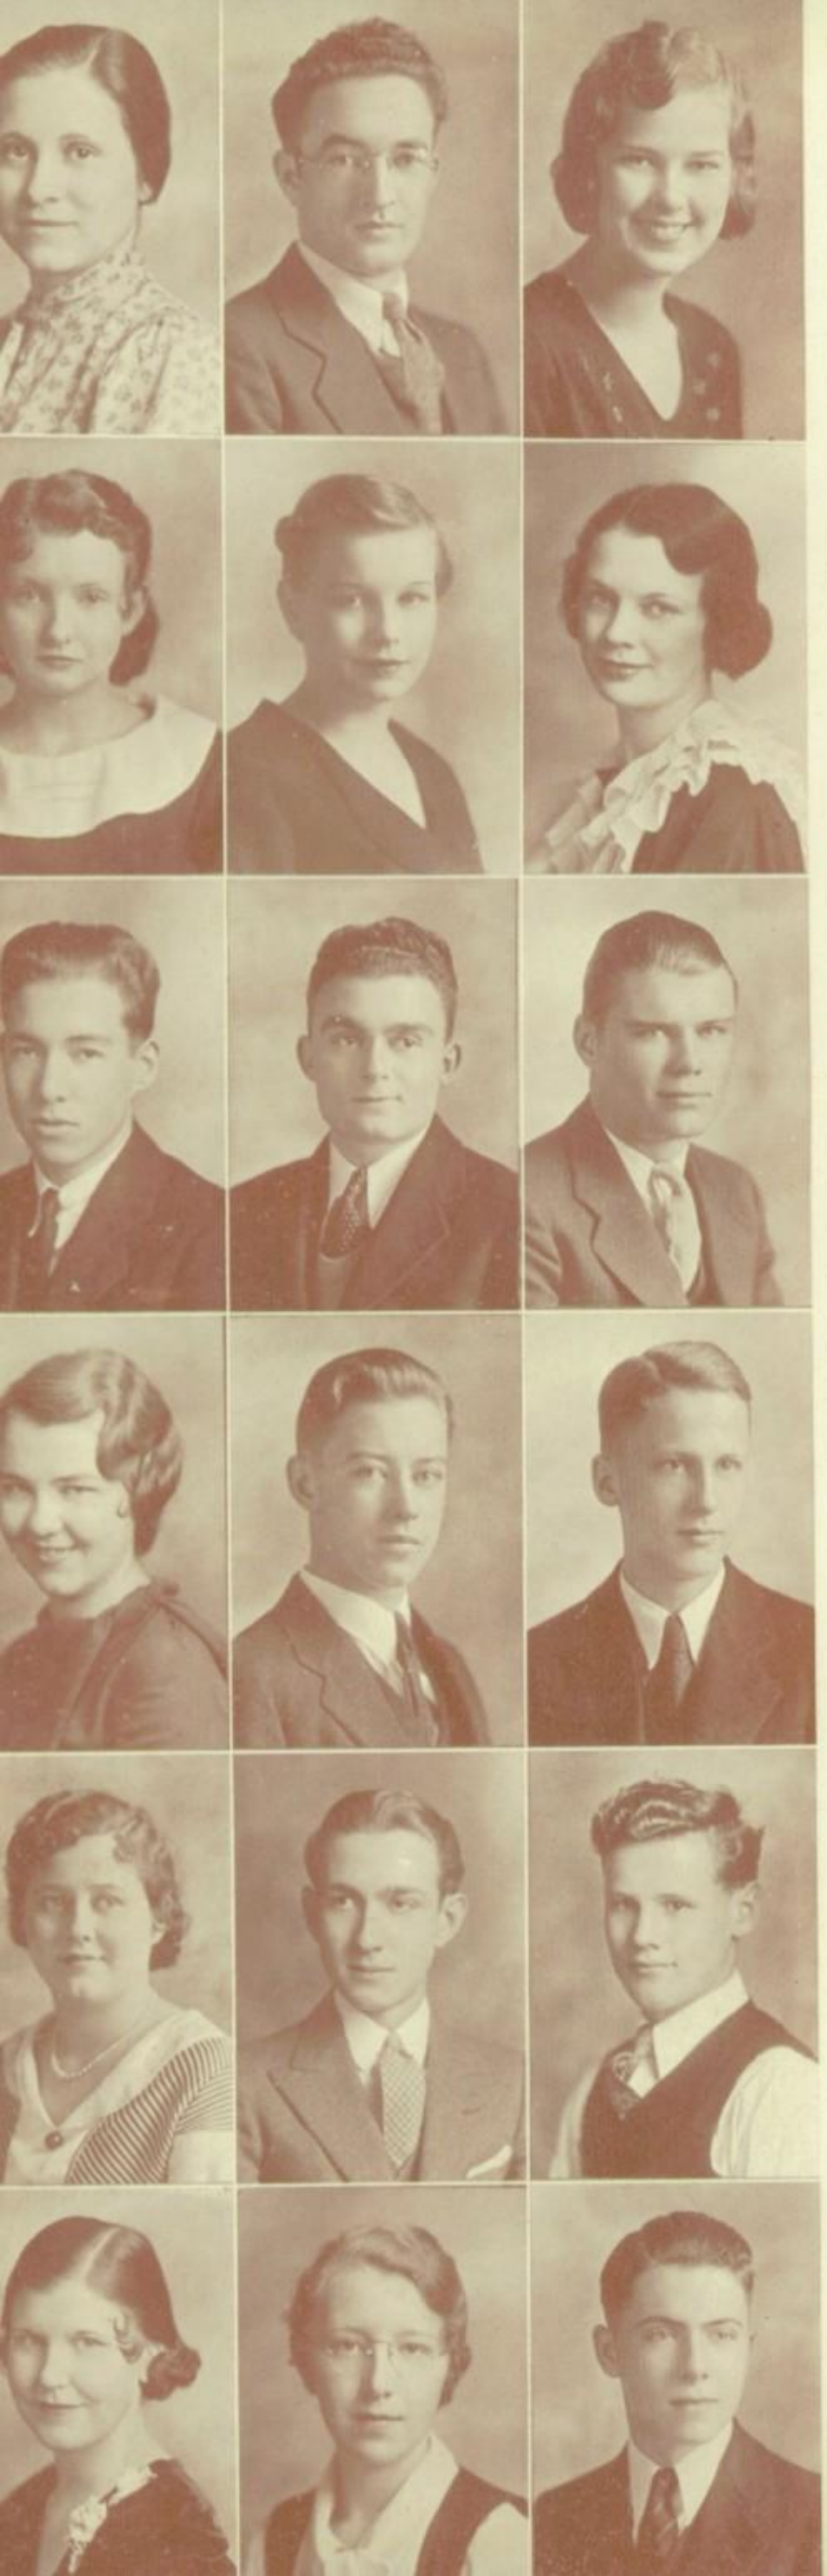
PHILIP A. JOHNSON
In ev'ry activity you could find "Phil"
For there's always a way for the man with a will.

ROBERT JOHNSON
Still another man called "Bob"
Well-liked because he was no snob.

WILLARD JOHNSON
Men of the fewest words are the best
Because they let actions say the rest.

RUSSEL JONES
O, harness thy steed, the "Galloping Snail"—
For it is a mount which will never fail.

WILLA MAE JONES
Willa, willa wait for me
Here beside the stormy sea?



MARY A. KELLY

This quiet industrious little maid
Has achievements which place ours quite in the shade.

DARRELL KINCAID

That curly-headed Darrell Kincaid
Has never left a debt unpaid.

RUBY KJELLANDER

She can give orders like nobody's biz
And do her work perfectly in a whiz.

HELEN M. KRAHN

If you could swim like Helen Krahn,
You'd swim as well as any swan.

HELEN C. KROHN

She had a much commended trait—
'Twas that she never came in late.

KATHRYN KROUT

When gentlemen step out with Kate,
They're apt to have a happy date.

CHARLES LACKY

An excellent student and athlete was "Chuck".
He never seemed to lack the pluck.

PAUL LACKY

He made a bad mistake who said
"There goes that lazy player, 'Red'."

FORREST LARSON

The name they gave him is really good
For his thoughts are deep-rooted like a wood.

MARY LOUISE LARSON

Mary Louise could solve a math equation
With the upper hand in any situation.

ORVILLE LARSON

He talked from 'way down in his chest
To give his throat a needed rest.

RAYMOND LARSON

The reason the meek shall inherit the earth
Is that they are aware of what life is worth.

ETHEL LAUERMAN

Wise motorists use ethyl gas
Because it means good style and class.

LUKE LAUGHNER

People seem to L(i)ke Laugh(t)er sometimes
In a typographical error that rhymes.

ORIE LAWRENCE

When he's a grandpa, maybe Orie
Will tell the kids a fairy story.

JEANNE LEE

There is a girl whose name is Jeanne
With Margaret Carlson sometimes seen.

CATHREEN LEHMAN

That conscientious girl, Cathreen,
At wasting time was never seen.

RALPH LINROTH

Unassuming as could be—
Yet who was half so smart as he?

ROXIE LITHANDER

We know her by her merry smile,
It seems she's happy all the while.

HELEN LITTLE

Here's a quiet, thoughtful lass,
A loyal member of our class.

HAROLD LOWE

Harold could prob'ly take the cake
But he'd divide for friendship's sake.

DOROTHY LUNDEEN

A perfect example is Dorothy Lundeen
And that's a fact that's easily seen.

OSCAR LUNDEEN

The manager of the footballs, "Ossie",
Was never inclined to be too bossy.

MARY LUVALL

Mary Luvall never cries
If she doesn't win first prize.

JACK LYON

This lyon's not king of the jungle land,
But he can play football to beat the band.

ELIZABETH McBROOM

With expression always pert
And those eyes that seem to flirt.

ISABEL McCLURE

The first woman president you may be sure
Will be none other than "Izzy" McClure.

HARRY McCLURG

On each foot he wore a gray spat
But Burns said, "A man's a man for a'that."

ELEANOR McGREW

Eleanor was never heard to say
"Let us put it off another day."

FRANKLIN McKAY

Franklin worked with all his might
When out of school—morn, noon and night.

LYMAN McKEOWN

Many girls believe that Lyman
Is, indeed, a rather shy man.

BETTY McCLAIN

"I'm upholding the question by fifty main points
Which should make the opponents ache in all joints.'

VIRGINIA McNAMARA

Beauty is its own excuse for hurting;
Coquettry permits itself to flirting.

HELEN MANLEY

This manly lady always smiles
And smiles and smiles and smiles and smiles.

MAE MARKHAM

She gathered news on the Budget staff,
And she could make the readers laugh!

ERWIN MATHER

On the track his spurs he won
Because he sure knew how to run.

JOHN MATTHEWS

His bearing was aristocratic;
Good manners quite automatic.

JOHN MAXWELL

Behind the burnt cork "Johnnie Andrew" hid
To be a husky dusky invalid.

VIRGINIA MAXWELL

She is mighty good at books
And not a bit behind for looks.

LILLIAN MECUM

She had the attitude "I want to know"
And to the root of everything she'd go.

ELIZABETH METZ

A dog is one of the luckiest pets
For he belongs to Elizabeth Metz.

JOSEPH MILES

Joseph and his Chevrolet
Were on hand 'most ev'ry day.

THEODORE MILLER

A sportsman he was known to be
Yet keen and quick in repartee.

DOROTHY MILLIKIN

"All-of-a-Sudden Peggy"—the name
Which gave this actress permanent fame.

BURWELL MILLS

"You say you fear we cannot climb the hills?"
"No, no, I say his name is Burwell Mills."

CHARLES MINER

Wherever we went we found him there
For "Bud" was wanted everywhere.

STEVE MINGARE

The cares of life became quite thin
When "Stephen" played his violin.

DOROTHY MITCHELL

In those sharp eyes ever dancing
You can see the imps are prancing.

JAMES MITCHELL

We think of "Jim" as Petey's son
Who taught him how cage games are won.

CLARENCE MOORE

He has some pretty good ideas
Concerning any hist'ry quiz.

MAE MORRIS

And furthermore her motives are pure
And unselfish—of that you may be sure.

GEORGIA MORRISON

Georgia is a state that's famed
For beauty—so she is well-named.

LOLA MORRISSEY

Lola's Buick held a few
Perhaps it was a dozen or two.

CHARLES MORTENSON

Being happy is no art;
Take your pleasures 'a la carte'.

Kennie Munson

KENNETH MUNSON

Three cheers for "Kennie" lusty and long—
He wrote the words for the High School song.

TOM MURPHY

When Murphy down the track doth fly,
Before you see him start, he's by.

WARREN MYERS

I knew this handsome athlete once
And take it from me—he was no dunce.

DONALD NELSON

For agriculture here's a mine
Of information in that line.

LEONA NELSON

Once upon a time
She found two words which rhyme.

LILLIAN NELSON

A hidden violet she might be
If measured by her modesty.

LOIS NELSON

Lois had a glance as coy
As ever seen by any boy.

RUTH M. NELSON

No one can deny this truth—
The best of all good names is Ruth.

JANET NIRDLINGER

Her new Ford eight could fly so swift
That out of second she'd not shift.

ANNA LEE NUTTER

Good will to all had Anna Lee
A quiet friendly girl was she.

WENDELL OLIVER

Oliver Wendell knew how to write a "pome".
But Wendell Oliver can better plow the loam.

HAZEL OLSON

Hazel nuts are good to eat
And Hazel Olson, too, is sweet.

JAMES OWENS

Especially was he full of fun
When the basketball team a game had won.

MARGARET OWENS

By skip and laugh and winning smile
She puts her worries in exile.

HARRIET PAGE

A mischievous sensible lady fair
Who never gave a friend the air.

VIVIAN PAINTER

In sports she found a keen delight
And entered them with all her might.

HOWARD PALMGREN

Everyone would say that "Hod"
By no description was a clod.

VIRGINIA PARISH

"Parishioners" aren't hard to find
And few of them she leaves behind.

HAZEL PARKER

The good short stories that she wrote
Are worthy of especial note.

KATHERINE PARKINS

"Katey-did" not turn away
Until she could a greeting say.

HARRIET PARKS

A model girl was Harriet Parks
Because she never went on larks.

FRANCIS PAUL

"Frannie" was the president of vice (?)
A style authority and O, so nice!

MARGARET PEARSON

Her brilliant future we fore-tell,
Because she knows her books so well.

EARL PECK

He was not made for books and schools,
Because he hates obeying rules.

WALTER PENDERGAST

If you would take a ride with "Walt",
You'd find that naught could make him halt.

CLIFFORD PETERSON

When Clifford heard that school was out,
He did acclaim it with a shout.

LUCY PETERSON

Lucy almost smiled out loud
And drew about her quite a crowd.

MARGARET PETERSON

The sweetest girl in all the world
The cynic's ban has never hurled.

MARGUERITE PETERSON

There was a girl named Marguerite
Who had such teeny-weeny feet.

MILDRED PETERSON

Here is now a fair colleen
Who is fond of wearing green.

GEORGE PICO

Georgie Porgie pudding and pie
Wiped the grape-fruit from his eye.

HAROLD POISET

Harold was busy as could be
For work is fun to such as he.

HELEN PONT

Is this the far-famed Helen of Troy?
Oh no—this maiden is more coy.

GORDON PRESTON

If everyone were as noisy as he
This world a silent place would be.

PAUL PRUETT

Paul Pruett is acquainted with the great George Ade
But Paul's chances as a bachellor appear to fade.

EVELYN RAMSEY

Evelyn's manners are quite chaste
When she is busy or in haste.

VERA REAMER

The number of her graces true
We failed to count or never knew.

CLAIRE RICH

In the circus is a clown
Who can't beat Claire in falling down.

JACK RIGG

Beau Brummel of the first degree—
The style was changed at his decree.

EDWIN RING

Perhaps you've heard that Edwin Ring
Can write a poem or even sing.

ALTA ROBERTSON

Her alta-tude was not too great—
She was not haughty but sedate.

MARK ROBERTSON

Which is Mark and which is Mack
Cannot be told when they run the track.

MAX ROBERTSON

They both are short and that is the
Only difference that there be.

CLYDE ROBINS

His sense of humor is as bright
As early morning's brilliant light.

PROVIDENZA ROGERS

Providenza's library work
Was nothing that she cared to shirk.

MARIAN ROSE

She's an accomplished jingle poet
Who plays a clarinet—she sure can blow it!

WILLIAM ROTHGEB

Zip! Boom! Bah!
Rah! Rah! Rah!

ROBERT RYLANDER

This blue-haired, curly-eyed little blond
Has hair to make the ladies fond.

VELONA SAMPLE

She was a lady sleuth
Who got her man in sooth.

DORIS SARGEANT

The Annies had a member
Whose heart was very tender.

EVELYN SCOTT

In the library she was spry
And poise she had—you'll not deny.

FRANCES SCOTT

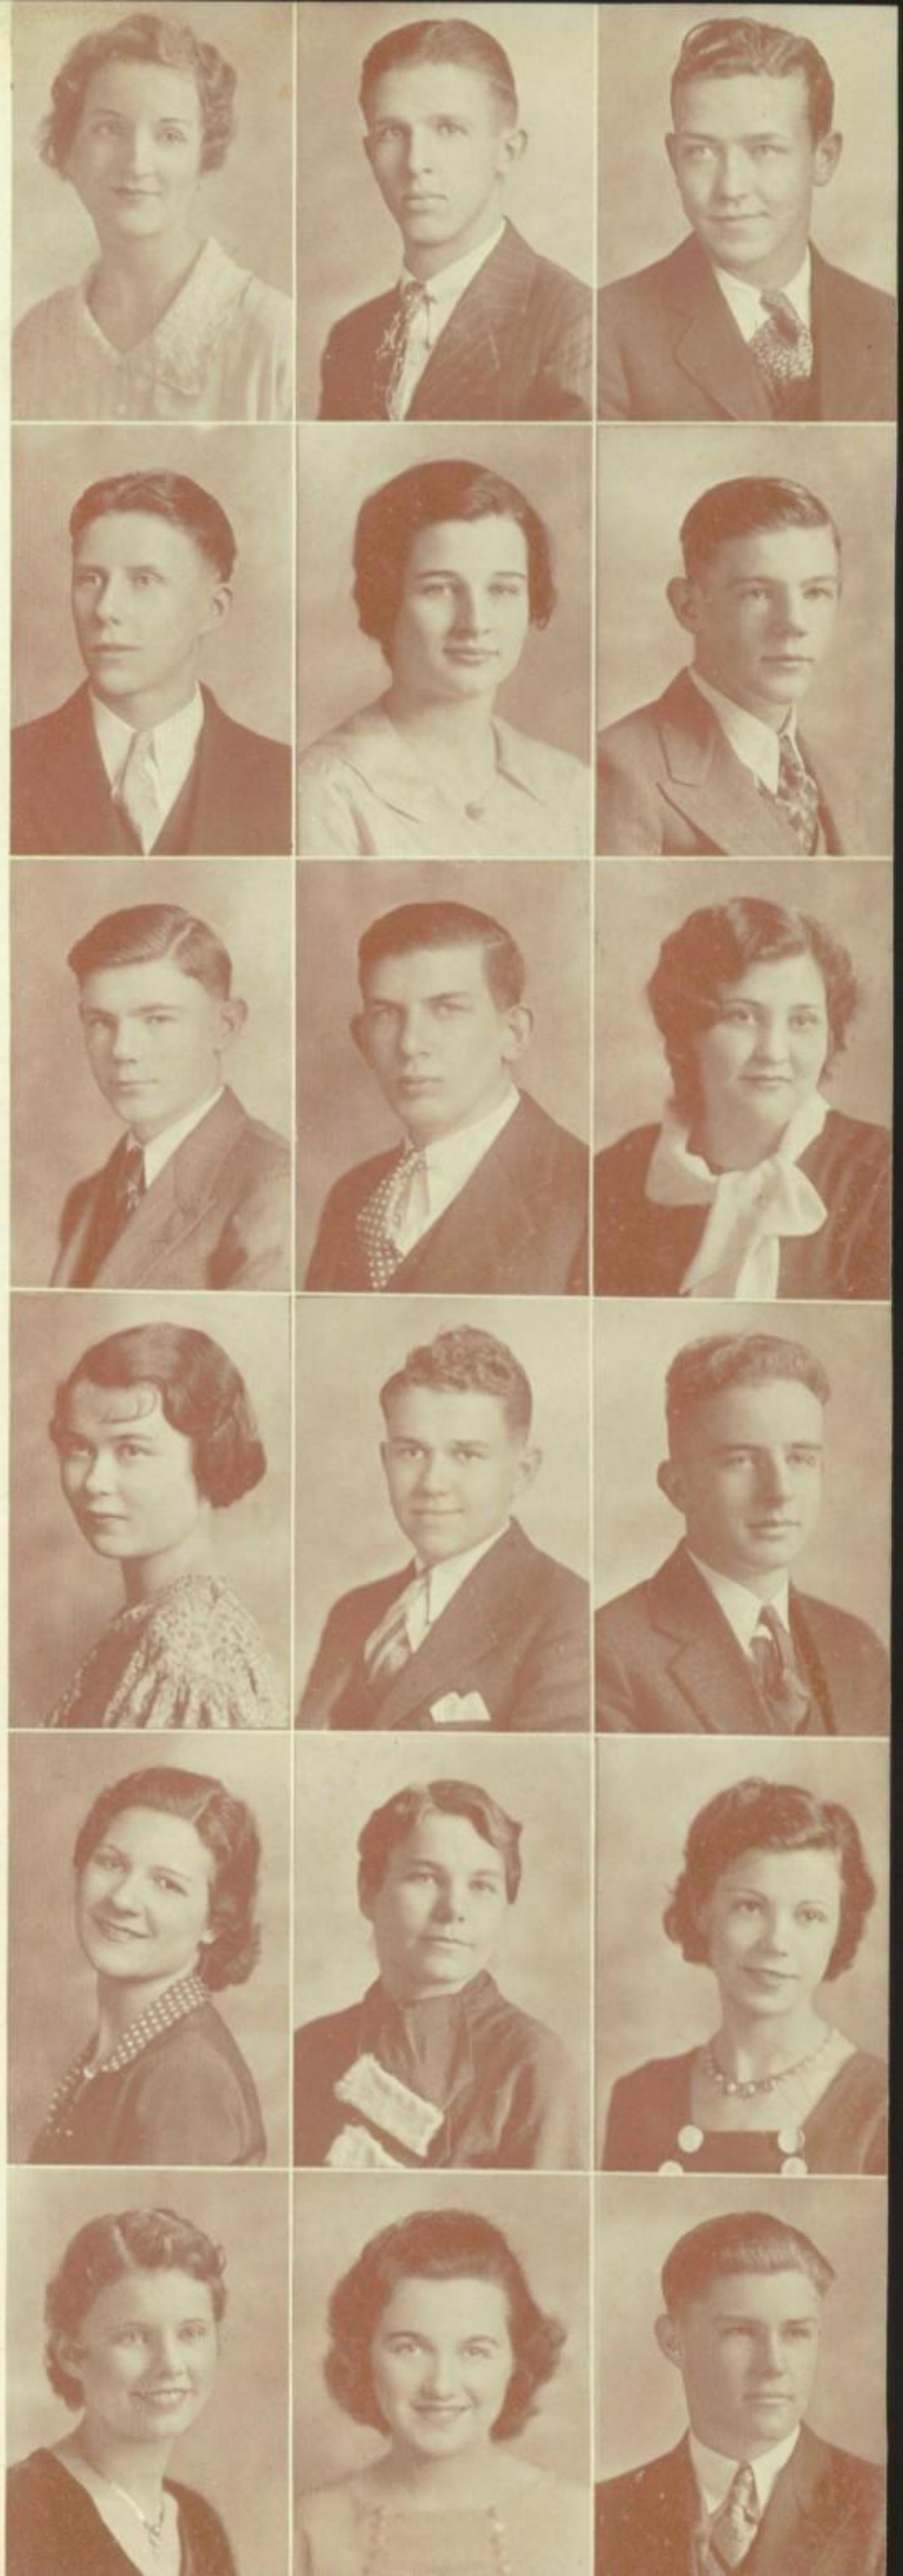
She'd giggle loud and then she'd hush
Embarrassed till she'd almost (?) blush.

NATALIE SEBASTIAN

We would travel many miles
To be the subject of her smiles.

DALE SHOLL

Such worth as this is not for sale;
No bribe could buy a man like Dale.



FRANCES CHRISTINA SIMPKINS

A barrel of candy could she eat—
Perhaps 'twas that which made her sweet.

VIVIAN SLOAN

If through this book you'll scrutinize
You'll see her feet twice normal size.

FRED SMITH

This member of the Science basketball team
Was often much less quiet than he'd seem.

MAXINE SMITH

(S)mythology of ancient Rome
Can be surpassed right here at home.

VIRGINIA SMITH

A novelist some day we'll see
If she is what she'd like to be.

LAVONNE SPROUT

An excellent typist, Miss Sprout,
On Reflector typing wore herself out.

ROBERT STACKHOUSE

The memory is scarcely past
Of Robert's thrilling cornet blast.

ROBERT STAFFORD

If athletes were all as handsome as he,
Where would the rest of the Romeos be?

KATHRYN STERENBERG

The sergeant-at-arms who reigned supreme
Did all the talking herself it seems.

MABEL STERN

At jig-saw puzzles Mabel plays
Because they're cut in funny ways.

ELMER STEVENS

When honor arouses itself to arms,
The blame may be laid to a lady's charms.

ORLO STEVENS

Orlo thinks with all his might
And then decides which side is right.

VENCEL STEVENS

Such great tenacity has "Vence"
'Twill make him famous some years hence.

VIRGINIA STEWART

So well had "Ginnie" learned to dance
She called forth many an envious glance.

VIRGINIA STONE

A lot was learned by Virginia Stone
For she was willing to be shown.

WILLIE STRADER

Willie's happy-go-lucky grin
Has helped him many friends to win.

RALPH STRANBERG

Ralph was never out of place
Nor came to school with dirty face.

CHASTA SWANSON

This loyal member of the P. L. S.
You'll someday hear from—this is just our guess.

GALE SWANSON

Gale can count us all his friends
For friendship on good-will depends.

ROBERT SWANSON

At eating sweet corn off the cob
The fastest man of all was "Bob".

LEE TANNER

With rhythm rare he beat the drum
And he could croon and even hum.

MARTHA BELLE TENNERY

As a school-teacher Martha Belle
Would probably do very well.

HARLAN TERPENING

In raising corn, oats, wheat, and barley,
No one can excel our "Harley".

EDYTHE THOMAS

Her enemies?—Why they're so few
They number less than half of two.

EDNA THURMAN

A faithful friend for those who need
Assistance or a kindly deed.

AVA TOWNSEND

As a student she was rare—
Her grades were somewhat more than fair.

MELLIE TRUITT

Mellie was a pretty child
Whose friends pronounced her kind and mild.

ROLLIN TUCKER

When on the team the coach played "Tuck",
It seemed we had some splendid luck.

JAMES TULIN

"Jim" is not "toolean" to be
A trackmen of the first degree.

MARY OLGA ULM

"What is now your great desire?"
"To be a teacher I aspire."

IVA UNZICKER

At typing she has worked away
Quite content the livelong day.

WILLIAM UPSON

Success depends on power of will,
So we predict success for "Bill".

VIRGIL VAN ETTEN

A freight train also runs on tracks
And Van displays the speed it lacks.

JANE WAGGONER

Although she seems demure and shy,
You'll find a sparkle in her eye.

BEULAH WAINWRIGHT

The W's end our list so tall
But she herself is rather small.

GERDA WAINRIGHT

She is pretty and besides that,
There is a head beneath her hat.

MARIAN WALKER
She "walks all over the ivories"
Never stumbling on the "ebonies".

FRED WALSH
His "Hup" so slowly (?) did he drive
It took him hours to arrive.

WILMA WEATHERFORD
Her Chevrolet can scarce accord
With Wilma's name which ends in ford.

GENEVA WHITE
Geneva giggled once (?) in school
And made the teacher's glance quite cool.

MADALYN WHITE
She's always drawing Mickey Mice
And so her posters all look nice.

WILBUR WHITE
"Web" is too "white" to play
A dirty trick in any way.

IRMA JEAN WICKERSHAM
Look at the "pitcher"—you can hear
Irma Jean whistle pretty near.

FLOYD WILLIAMS
The dances which were done by Floyd
Without exception were enjoyed.

THELMA WILLIAMS
She wants to be the primmest nurse
And give you pills for better or worse.

MARY JANE WILLIS
Mary Jane has a heart of gold,
Her friendship never could grow cold.

JOHN WILSON
A stick of dynamite, though small,
Can make an uproar after all.

LOIS WILSON
Lois never flirts
She always goes to church.

WAYNE WONG
If he were down to his last dime,
He'd share it with you any time.

ALDEN YELMGREN
Alden always studies hard
And proud is he of his grade card.

HARVEY YOUNG
To gain his big vocabulary
He 'sociates with the dictionary.

MAREE YOUNG
A sweeter girl than young Maree
Or one as fair, we seldom see.

ELOUISE YOUNGREN
At sewing she was always bound to please—
At dress-designing you'll find Elouise.

NOTE: The pictures of seniors included in this section are of those students whose standing at the close of the first grade period of the second semester seemed to indicate successful graduation in June, 1933.

Grass

Tall green grass swaying in the wind
Makes a lovely place for fairies to hide in;
But the red-headed boy with freckles on his nose
Makes a wry face and wriggles brown toes
When his mother says, "It must be mowed."

When I Transgress

In the office I sit with my heavy grief,
No encouragement and no relief.
The dean walks in with worried frown;
I look at him—my head drops down.

He takes me in, I sink to the chair,
Of the depths of sin I'm quite aware.
The room is silent except his voice,
He speaks two things, I take my choice.

I think of home, and the time to play,
I want to be stubborn, but it doesn't pay.
So I ask the dean, "May I stay in school,
If I do my work and obey the rule?"

—Homer Woolsey, '34.

THE VITASCOPE ACTIVITIES

REEL III

ACTIV

COMEDIE...

Why is it that when one hears a musical instrument played better than he himself ever can hope to play it, or sees acting better than he can ever act, or reads words constructed into ideas better than he can ever construct them, or sees a painting done with a skill he can never hope to attain—that the permanent feeling is not discouragement, but whole-hearted appreciation? Is this not proof that man is not essentially egotistical, but world-conscious.

Reflector Pictures, Inc.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," said the tourist guide, "you are to have the great privilege of visiting the studio of Reflector Pictures, Inc., financed by Laughner and directed by Kjellander. The picture now under production is the 'Reflector Vitascope', a film in five reels with an all-star cast of about a thousand. Be very quiet for it is only by special permission that we are allowed to enter the private office. When I give the signal to leave, depart quietly. You may enter at this time. The director is probably dictating tomorrow's orders to a secretary.

"Call E. A. Johnson and tell her to arrange for new scenery and views, emphasizing the seasons. Get in touch with Danielson and Bonham of Senior Pictures asking for new and original couplets for each star. Write to Munson and Palmgren for information on the progress of Wampus Babies. Make an appointment with Hinchliff and Linroth for retaking Westerns. Interview Johnson, Mecum and Bowen about the Snappy Snap Contest. Advertise for original poems, lyrics and essays to be used when filming Highlights. Arrange consultation with the five artists of Belshaw Art Studios. Tell them the third revision will be acceptable if within our price limit. Have DeWitt and Poiset recheck their section of reel two. Arrange an interview with Linroth concerning the rewritten scenario. Secure services of an expert photographer. I suggest Damberg Kodak Co., with Upson assisting. Ask Stevens and R. Johnson to collaborate on an animated comedy. Order Rose to call out extra girls for the Western picture. Interview the secretaries, Austin and Sprout, about preparing an index of actors. Telegraph Kelly to forward information on cameramen."

The tourist guide gave the signal and the crowd filed out. Then the guide spoke. "Perhaps after hearing the director give all of those orders you will think as I do. It is very interesting work but the only time I am really envious of these movie folk is when I see them march down the aisle to their box seats at the premiere showing of the 'Reflector Vitascope'."

Margaret Pearson	Typist	Lois Nelson

The Budget, with the largest reportorial staff in its history consisting of forty-eight members, very successfully continued its office as chief publicity agent for the scholastic, literary, dramatic, athletic and social interests of Galesburg High School.

Because of the world's financial status and the increased activity of the printing department a six-page paper was a rarity. Thus the staff had to select and condense the material printed with great care to make it conform to the four pages.

By dint of much effort, both business and editorial, a special, enlarged tournament edition was published, containing an article concerning each competing team. The "extra" was printed at the Labor News, and the size of this publication was about twice that of the regular Budget.

A new process greatly reduced the cost of making cartoon "cuts", and much more school cartooning talent could be reproduced for the benefit of the Budget readers. These editorial cartoons and school event caricatures livened the paper considerably. The editorial page was changed from four to three columns to add variety.

On April 8 the Budget staff joined the Reflector staff in "making news" under the eye of Mickey Mouse.

Truly the 1932-1933 Budget files will be as novel, as newsy and as important to the future reader as any that came off the "big" press.

The Orchestra

President ..... MARIAN ROSE
Librarian ..... HOMER HINCHLIFF
Secretary ..... MARTHA JOHNSON

The Senior High School Orchestra had a very busy calendar this year. The highlight of the season was the annual concert which was presented on March 31, in the high schoool auditorium. A new feature in the form of an orchestra assembly was presented to the school during the year. Solos were given on different instruments and various types of music were played.

This group played at various dramatic productions and entertained at several P. T. A. meetings. It presented a program at the Womans' Club and also gave an assembly, "Who Told the Truth", in conjunction with the Prokorama Literary Society.

The Band

Perhaps the most unusual feature of the Band program this year was the song contest it sponsored. During an assembly, four selections were played to which the students might write words. Kenneth Munson's song was selected for first place and Harvey's Young's for second.

The Band presented its annual concert on April 28, in the high school auditorium. Fifteen members played a St. Patrick's day program for the Kiwanis Club. This organization entertained at football and basketball games and at several pep assemblies. It also played in the Armistice Day parade, the Decoration Day parade, and at graduation exercises.

Advisory Council

If you see some one madly dashing through the halls, you will know it is an advisory councilman on one of his many errands. This year each advisory councilman was given a very official looking badge to wear while attending to the advisory errands. This badge permitted the councilman to pass through the halls without a green slip and saved time on the part of both the teacher and student. The sale of season tickets, Budgets, Reflector subscriptions, other tickets and matters of publicity were taken care of very efficiently by this very capable group. Below their names and advisories are listed.

Debate Board

My, what an intelligent looking group! These people have learned not only to uphold their side of the question but also to see the arguments for both sides, as a true debater should. This year each member of this group engaged in a debate with another school. The question was, Resolved: That at least one-half of all state and local revenue should be derived from sources other than tangible property.

The Big Nine Team, chosen from this group, won a second debate championship for Galesburg. The affirmative was composed of Martha Johnson, William Daugherty and Harvey Young, while Gerda Wainright, Philip A. Johnson and Jean Fuhr valiantly upheld the negative.

The schedule for debates this year was as follows:

BURLINGTON VS. GALESBURG

Affirmative	Negative
Deloris Hendrix	Marian Rose
Grant Harnest	Philip A. Johnson

KEWANEE VS. GALESBURG

Affirmative	Negative
Ruby Kjellander	Helen Hynes
Martha Johnson	Lois Retherford
William Daugherty	Alonzo Clay

WESTERNS..

A swinging bat cracks,

The ball arcs high; twinkling feet

Race 'round the bases.

Pleading cries for score

As the gun points up; then comes

The swish of the net.

A spiraling pass

As drumming feet race goalward;

Side lines cry "Touchdown!"

Fleet runners skim down

Cinder lanes, each heart straining

To reach the tape first.

Athletic Directors

During his ten years as coach of football and track, John Gillespie has proved himself very valuable to G. H. S. He has produced winning teams, some of which have gained national records. It speaks well for him that each succeeding team maintains the standard set by former ones. His ability to make himself understood and his knowledge of the nature of each boy with whom he comes in contact make him the kind of coach boys like to have instruct them. He is ever striving for high ideals and good sportsmanship as well as better playing ability in his teams.

Mr. Phillips has made a brilliant record during his four years of coaching Galesburg teams. The system which he introduced has been highly successful for G. H. S. Our teams have ranked among the very best in the State, one having taken second place in the State Tournament. During his four seasons of coaching Galesburg teams have consistently outscored their opponents in total points. But he has wrought a greater achievement than this. His influence has played a large part in shaping the characters of those boys with whom he has come into contact. Therein lies his greatest service.

Athletic Board and Student Managers

Much in the way of gratitude is due the members of the Athletic Committee for the creditable manner in which the year's athletic program was arranged and carried out. Evidence of their work was noticeable in the excellent schedule of athletic contests which was secured for G. H. S. The successful completion of that schedule was facilitated through their efforts. Nor did they render a lesser service when they made available the popular "season ticket".

The student managers were those backstage property men,—those unseen workers, who saw that the "show went on". Managerical ability was a salient quality of their characters. Their work was of the utmost importance, not only to the teams alone, but to the school as a whole.

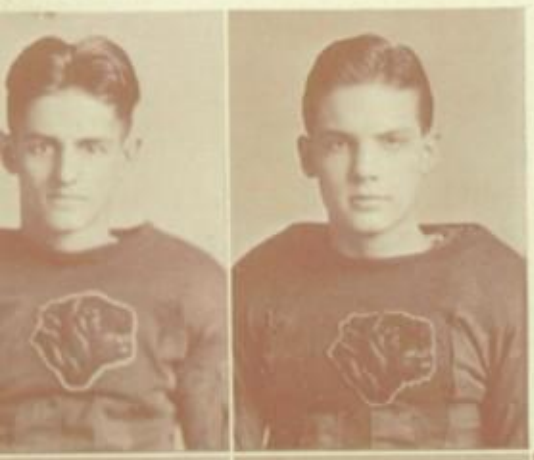
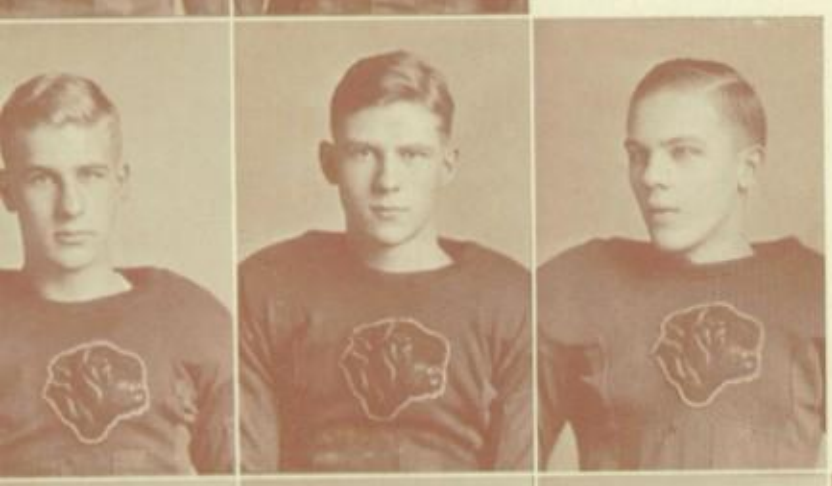
Football

The Galesburg High School football team had an unusually good season last fall. In the Big Nine race it tied for second place, being defeated by Moline only. Clever playing and real fight were prominently displayed in all of the games. Even when far ahead or tied the G. H. S. tigers kept on fighting. Not until the final gun sounded would they cease their hard-fought game. Coach Gillespie and the team deserve a great deal of credit for their accomplishments of last season.

The players who were responsible for the success of last season and who were awarded their letters and numerals are:





"Sonny" Myers, the capable captain and one of the best centers in the Big Nine. . . . Francis Paul, a veteran end and a three-letter man. . . . Bill Gardner, one who possessed the ability to get down on punts. . . Joe Burford, the clever quarterback, who was all speed and elusiveness. . . . Dick Arnold, a backfield man and very adept at blocking. . . Bob Stafford, the hard-hitting end with much ability to stop end runs. . . . . Allison, equally effective on offense or defense. . . . . Bruington, a guard with much spirit and fight. . . . . Jimmy Walsh, a hard-worker who was especially able at defensive tactics. . . . Tommy Larson, a smashing fullback and the "Iron Horse" of the squad. . . . . Dale Pitman, the fleet substitute quarterback. . . Johnny Maxwell, one of the few tackles who have made a touchdown. . . Dick Carlson, always an aggressive player.

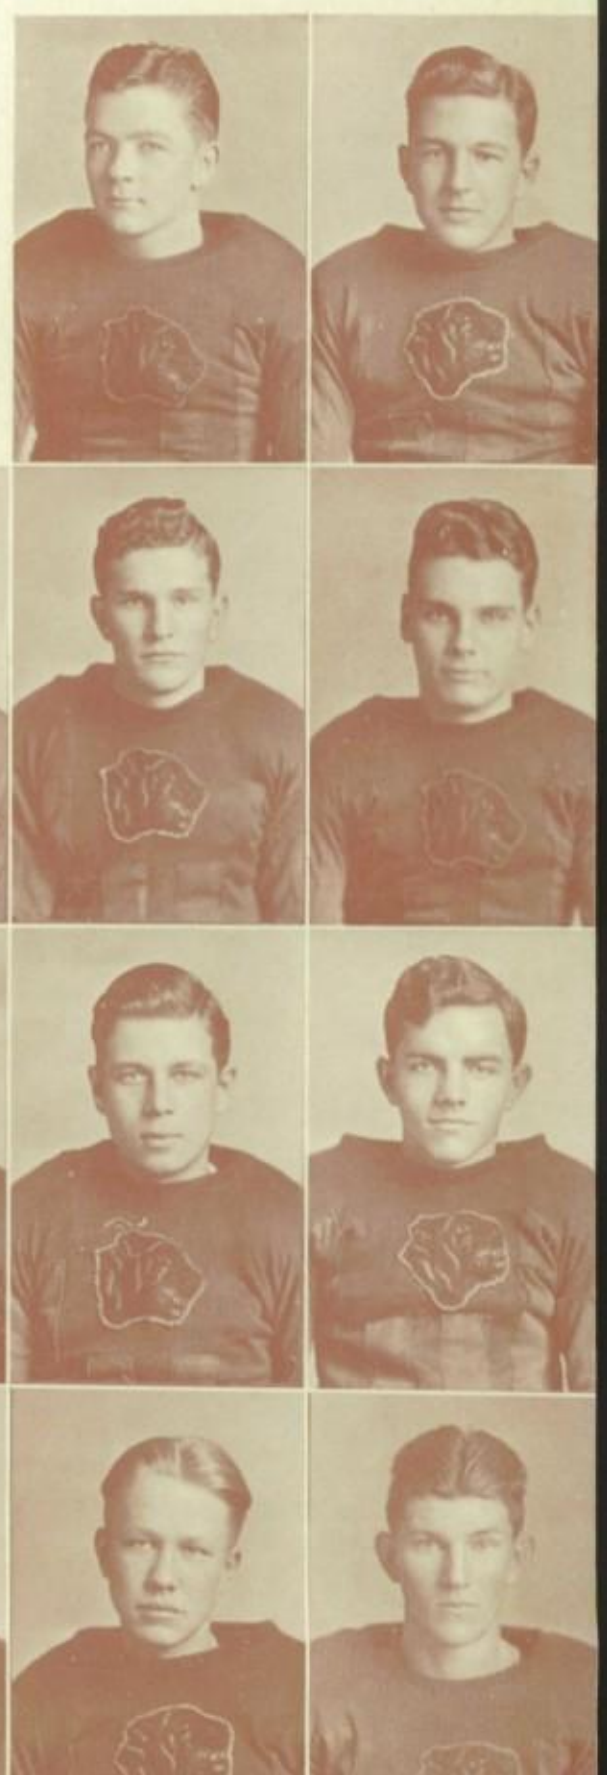
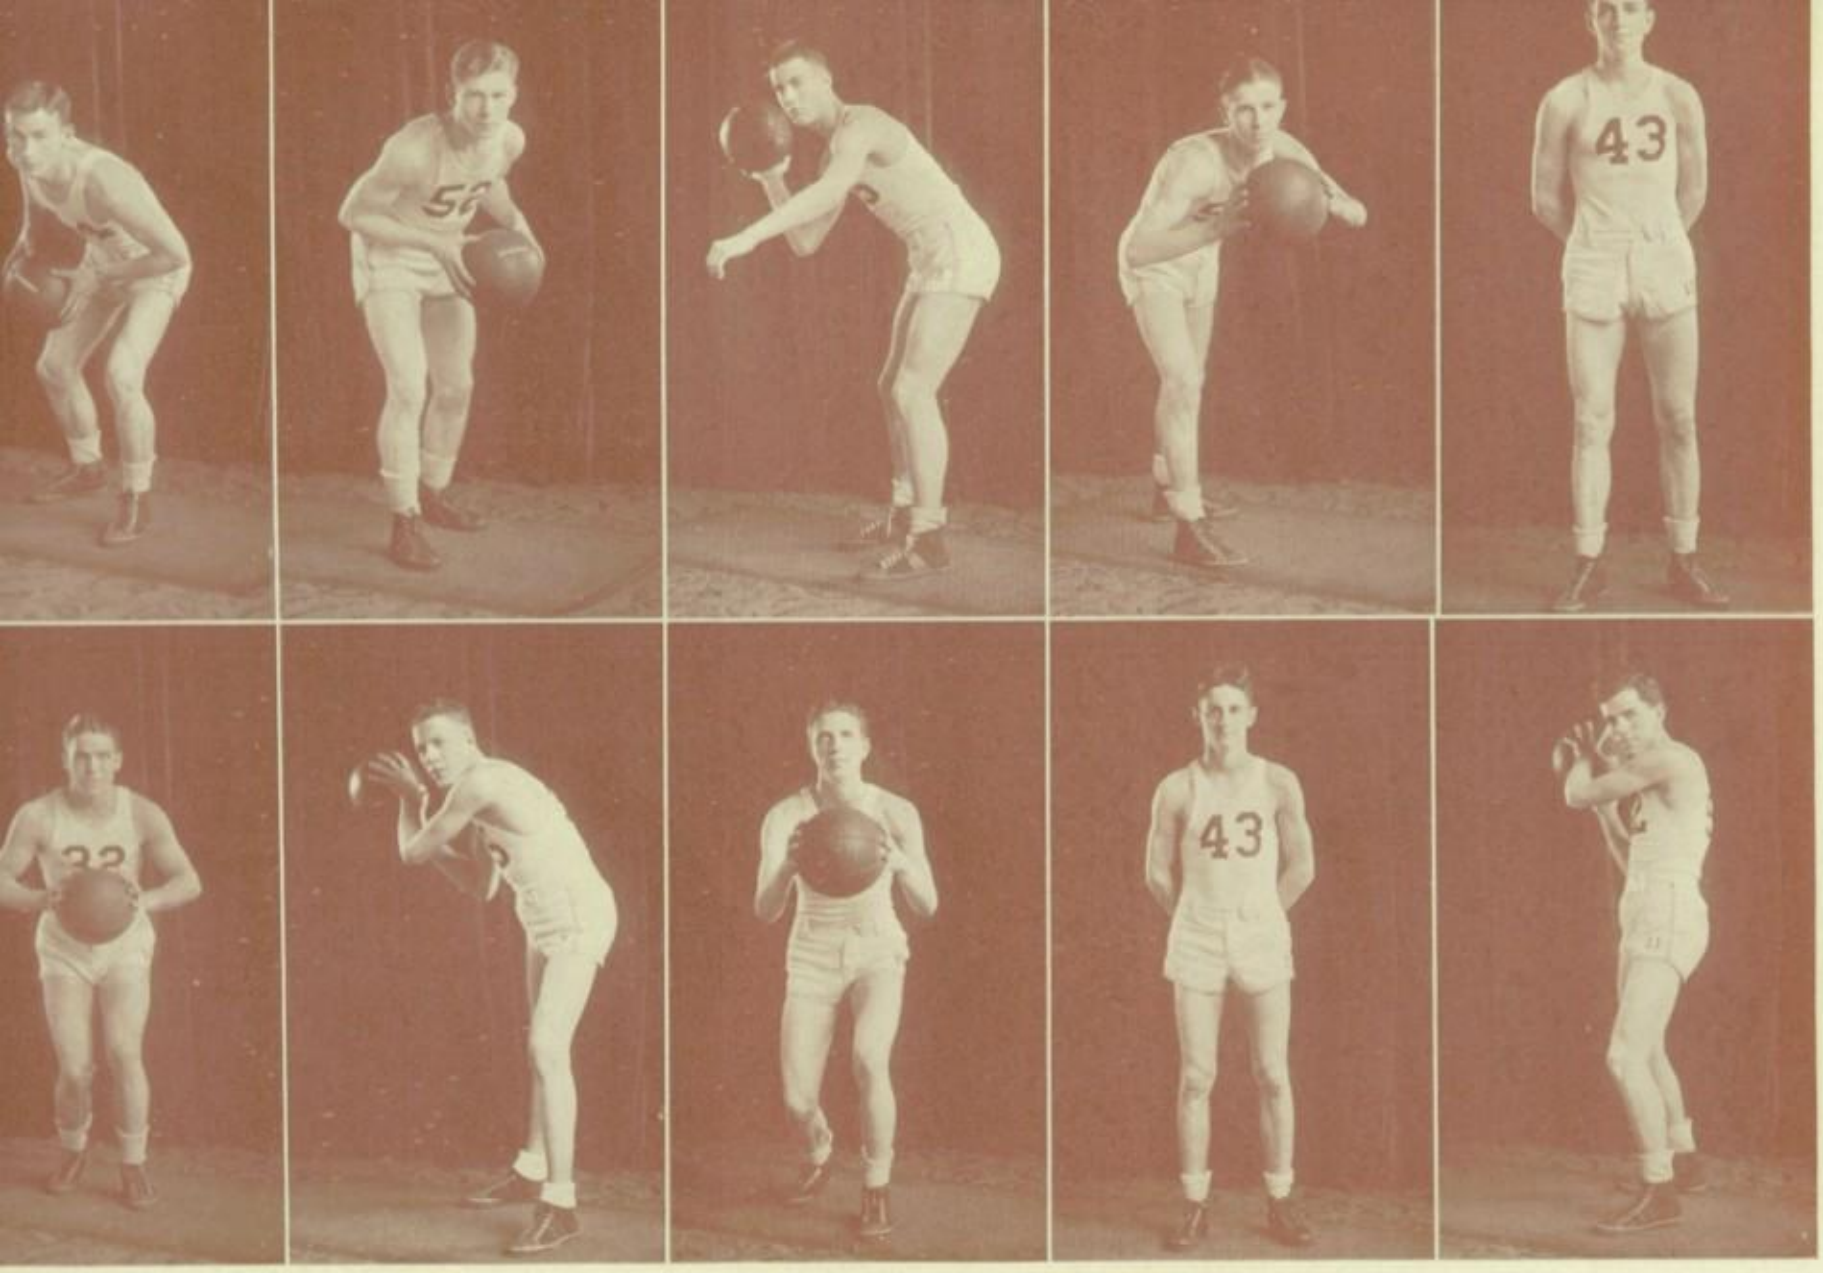
Robert Marshall, always alert, steady, consistent, and reliable. . . . Bob Gunther, a halfback who will prove valuable next year. . . . Dick Fuller, a man who played his best at all times. . . . Wesley Carmack, a regular who worked hard and earned his letter. . . . Clarence Bowles, a player whose actions proved his worth. . . . Dave Arnold, a valuable substitute. . . . Raymond Funk, a substitute tackle who did his bit with vim and vigor. . . . Van Mattocks, a good center for next year's squad. . . . LeRoy McCullough, an energetic guard who kept trying his best. . . . . Laverne Anderson, a reserve halfback with plenty of speed and dash. . . . Kenneth Kellogg, a substitute guard with much aggressiveness and spirit. . . . Lindbeck, a fullback for next year's team. . . Lynn Carmack, an alternate end who was a valuable asset to the squad.





Basketball

The fact that we won third place in the sectional tournament shows that each one of the following players well deserves his letter or numeral. Reading from left to right are: Dutton, the reliable guard whose dependability has been thoroughly proven. . . . Burford, the dribbling demon who often led Galesburg to victory. . . Robinson, whose adeptness at faking was remarkable. . . . Rich, high-point man in spite of his numerous falls. . . . Stafford, an outstanding defensive forward who has shown marked improvement during the past season. . . . Mitchell, a steady, reliable substitute guard. . . . Eagle, the substitute center and an excellent ball handler. . . . Owens, a sub who was always ready with strong support. . . . . Meyers, a substitute guard always to be relied upon in an emergency. . . . McCullough, a small, fast, and tricky player. . . . Horn, a consistent player who will be back next year. . . . Arnold, a valuable guard though hampered by injuries. . . . Sauter, a forward with the ability to sink long shots. . . . Seyller, the pugnacious alternate center, full of vigorous fight. . . . Sandburg, a very fast forward and a good man on offense. . . . Allison, a sub whose accurate eye will prove valuable next year. . . . Lutz, a sub of small quantity though of good quality. . . . Guardalabene, one of the nuclei of next year's squad. . . . Mullen, a tall and clever sub.

Cheer Leaders

There is no proper reward which can be conferred upon our cheer leaders. Their value is incalculable in supplying the spark which ignites our school enthusiasm. Their only reward lies in the knowledge that their work is successful.

Let our high regard be shown by a salute to Dodge, Dodge, Stoke, Rothgeb, Gunckel and Crane.

Irish Spring

It is fairy time in Ireland in the spring
With the golden hush of star light on the hills,
Gleaming vales of silver dew,
Shadows soft and dimly blue.
It is wonder time in Ireland in the spring.

It is dreaming time in Ireland in the spring
With the fields of flowers gleaming in the sun,
And the tender fragile sheen
Of the softest palest green
Of the leaves that bloom in Ireland in the spring.

—Edna Mae Sims, '34.

Whimsey

Under the mellow moonlight and the stars high up in the sky
The fairy queen is taking her throne on the wings of a gay butterfly.

Under the mellow moonlight 'neath the shade of the glistening trees
Little fairies are dancing 'round the hives of the honey bees.

—Ocle Lee Wilkins, '34.

Dogwood

The blossoms of the dogwood are most beautiful to me
When they're mirrored in the limpid moving sea,
Or when they bloom demurely by the low roadside,
And often times are sprayed by the ocean's highest tide.

Once while I was sitting on some green and dewy grass
To breathe a loveliness that nothing could surpass,
Odors of the dogwood mingled lightly with the breeze,
And the soft, pink petals kept falling on my knees.

Do you wonder why I remember that spot where once I stood
When an arch was formed above me of pink and white dogwood?

—Rena Godwin, '35.

"Largo"

A SONNET

The "Largo" chants a theme of bygone days,
Recalling visions of th' historic past,
When Handel's voice was raised in solemn lays,
And chancels echoed to the organ's blast.

A plaintive tune that softly flows and falls,
Serenely smooth in its simplicity;
Resounding through high arched cathedral halls
To fade at length in calm tranquility.

The rev'rent worshipers with serious mien,
Sit pond'ring on solemnities of life,
As though, while list'ning raptly, they had seen
A dim and distant future free from strife.

The ages may roll on and cares increase,
But "Largo" gives the spirit sweet release.

—Kenneth Munson, '33.

Concerto Furioso

There was a rustle of expectancy as the lightning flashed at regular intervals; and the harp of the trees, the bass drum of thunder, the staccato rap of clattering hail, and the monochromatic beat of rain paused as the director raised his baton to begin his concerto furioso. The loud, deep crash of thunder led the woodwind and brass instruments through the first movement of the concerto.

Clouds darkened Nature's concert hall to impenetrable blackness. Again the bass drum of thunder broke forth with a resounding crash at a sharp, decisive signal from the lightning's baton. Then the wind wailed a mournful melody on the harp of trees, while the rain played a forceful, perpetual pizzicato accompaniment to the storm.

The only appreciative applause to be heard was the banging of doors and rattling of windows as the house quaked with the gripping weirdness of so thrilling a concert.

Frances Lafferty, '35.

March

I like
To go to school
In March.

The lion wind
Sighs,
And howls;
Nature herself
Growls;
The ascending sun,
Leaping upward,
Is soon blotted from sight
By the patter
And the spatter
Of a rain.
March,
Like the jester—
Wears a motley coat
Of color
In a pattern of its own.

It's different
To go to school
In March.

April

Though
I hope
I'm not
An April fool,
I think I'd Rather
Go to school—
In April,
Than any Other Time.

The wind has stopped,
The storms are fewer,
The snow is gone,
And
Skys are bluer.

It seems
To me
The earth
Is newer,
Although—
It's not—
In April.

River Journey

As an old man who seems worn with life,
The drab banked river
Slowly rolls on its way,
Taking things as they come.
Its musical ripples conceal its hidden thoughts,
Its hidden ambitions.

However, slowly, surely its pent up hopes rise to the surface:
Suddenly at the rapids
A miracle changes it
To a rumbling, roaring, rasping force
Fighting its destiny.

And then,
As an old man with ambition satisfied,
It rests in a quiet pool,
Until slowly and peacefully it slips to the sea.

Girlhood

A beautiful summer morning,
Breezes blowing her hair,
Sunshine kissing her cheeks,
Happiness everywhere.

Another summer morning—
Many years have passed.
Another girl is standing there—
How different from the last!

Time changes
So I'm told,
But girlhood charms and fancies
Seem never to grow old.

—Mary A. Wolff, '34.

Frosted Windows

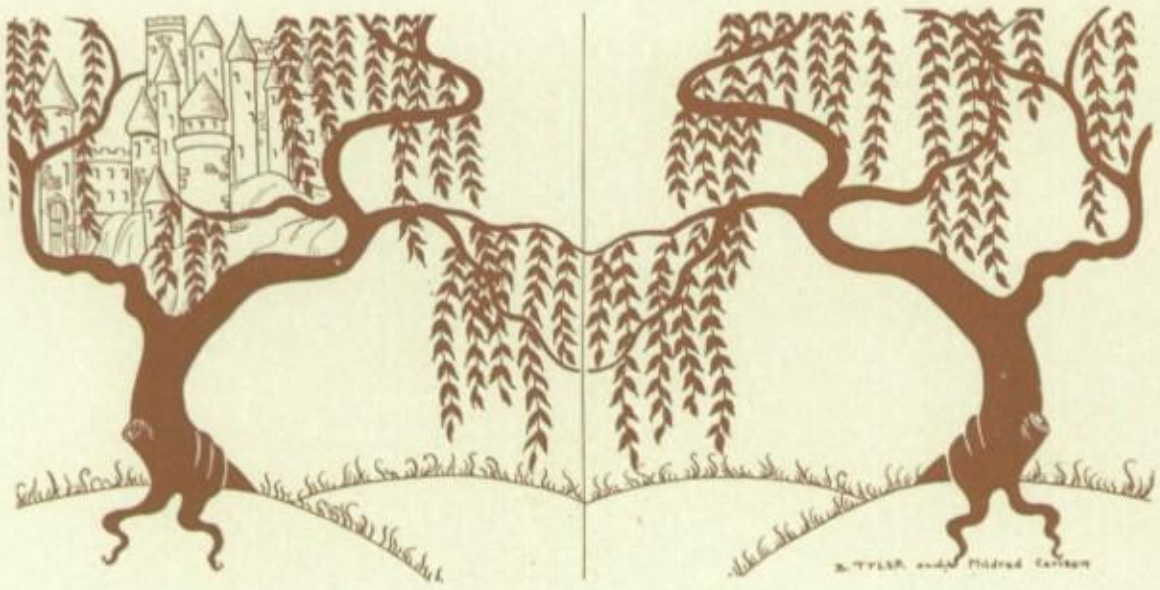
Dreamily I gaze at fairy painted pictures
And see white castles towering high
And gallant knights go riding by.
My neighbor glances at his frosted window panes
And prophesies "Cold weather for the day."

—Lois Retherford, '34.

Spring

Nature changes her garb four times a year—
The loveliest one will soon be here!
She casts off her robe of ugly brown snow,
And starts just now a spring fashion show.
Her gown of greenish hue
With red brown tints and a splash of blue
Designed of flowers, and birds in trees
Hangs from her shoulders, a painted frieze.

—Mary Louise Duke, '34.



Witchery

I see a beautiful castle
Of colors gold and green;
It has spires and towers that dazzle
With their bright and lustrous sheen.

But perhaps I'm only dreaming,
And nothing like this I see,
For here comes a woodsman scheming
Just how to fell this tree.

—Donald Nelson, '34.

Echoes

Wafted gently on balmy air,
Floats the echo of a feathered dweller.

And when the night-bird calls,
The echo blends with the waterfalls.

If the world should forget the song,
Echoes will carry the melody on.

A Fondly Cherished Mother

Mother, who made me what I am today,
Mother, who bore me on life's rugged way,
In the whole wide world, there is no other
Whom I love more dearly than my cherished mother.

Mother, who forgave me for each petty sin,
Mother, who helped me, each battle to win,
I'll carry a picture of her cheerful smile
Engraved in my heart to life's last mile.

If you should leave me, O Mother of Mine
Though long years pass by, I'd ne'er cease to pine,
O dear little mother, you are the light
That leads me on to the road of right.

—Dean Peterson, '35.

Somersaults

Russell Bell, '34

Eight-nine-ten strikes, and mother expected me to be home at eight-thirty with her groceries. I had to think of some excuse other than that I was watching the younger generation turn somersaults. That wouldn't rate very highly—not with my mother.

I honestly wish I had that stage to live over again—that stage of life when one took liberty to turn those funny hand-springs. Notice I said "took the liberty". For my mother, like many others, never approved of her son's choosing such amusements which would sooner or later make him a unique-looking tramp. I can hear Ma saying, "John, if you don't stop standing all over your head, the blood will all run to it, and stop your living."

Somersaults are queer heavenly things when one stops to think. They're just little things which end when they begin!

There is no true simile to use when speaking of this three syllable word, but I would say it was much like a great man, known by his great works and past deeds, and so are somersaults. A somersault makes grins dash on and off many freckled faces. It makes an old man who can turn them feel ten years younger and as spry as "ten bottles of rubbing alcohol." Perhaps some would not see the greatness of such functions. You will admit somersaults are here for a happy purpose, and after all, happiness is the key word of life. Thus, I would say that somersaults were little hand-springs of happiness bound to bring joy; they're just little helpers of sunshine to better living.

A Study of Ducks

HARVEY YOUNG, '33

Once upon a time two men went duck hunting. One man knew all about it and said but little—the other knew but little about it and said a great deal.

The former set out some decoys while the latter sorted out the guns and got himself conspicuously prepared.

As the talkative hunter arrived on the hunting scene he immediately broke into a torrent of words.

"My dear fellow. I hate to criticize but the way you have set those decoys out is simply intolerable. They never in the world would attract a flock of ducks. And your choice of decoys—I can see you lack the judgment that comes with experience—why those decoys are about the poorest that could be bought. We could lie here for years and never have a duck come within miles of us. I'll go over and reset those decoys, and then watch our results."

As the speaker made a plunging step through the shallow water toward the decoys they noisily rose into the air and flew away. And in the opposite direction the real decoys floated serenely on the surface of the water.

An Anomaly

Ralph Linroth, '33.

It is in full accordance with man's unfathomable nature that he delights in a form of self-torture. Is it not strange that after the day's struggle with professed trials and tribulations he must needs submit himself to further annoyance by reading a horrible mystery story? Who has not experienced that sense of creeping horror engendered by a tale of mystery, especially if it is read in nocturnal solitude? The sense of vague uneasiness induced by that type of literature gives rise to prickly sensations of the spine and usually culminates in a ghastly shiver on the part of the reader. Man then becomes a miserable mortal, hugging the circle of l a m p l i g h t, deliciously thrilled by a species of gruesome story. Reading under such conditions is erratic in manner by reason of frequent interruptions to ascertain whether any ogres are watching from the area of darkness without.

Those things which in the light of day seem so commonplace and ordinary . . . the chair, or the table. . . in the shades of darkness assume a variety of mysterious shapes. We have known upon such occasions certain superstitious feelings to become so fixed upon us that we are of a moral certainty that things in the room have in general been endowed with life. Those feelings are not at all helped when, upon reading further, the hero, blissfully unaware, is almost grasped by a spectral hand which issues forth from some mysterious aperture. In fact we are not positively sure that one is not reaching for us at the same moment. Moreover, that piece of furniture, — at least it seems to be such— appears to have a goblin look heretofore unnoticed. We have an impression that numerous demons and denizens of the dark are surveying us with evil intentions. Our eyes develop distinct divergent tendencies attempting to peer into all corners at once.

In short, continued reading so complicates the frightful situation that we are forced to hastily seek a haven of security in bed. But there is more yet to come; ah, those horrid nightmares. . . . . .

CAPRICE

In winter when the snowflakes fall,
I see a fairy dancing.
I run outdoors to play with her
But, lo! 'tis just my fancy.

—Honora Zeldes, '34.

RHYTHM

Rhythm rules the happy world,
Discord takes the other;
Let us all bedeck ourselves,
And go and dance another.

—Gladys Chinn, '34.

Declamation, Oratory and Extempore

Big Nine speech activities were successful to the extent that we won two second places and one fourth. But considering the interest aroused in the student body by preliminary contests, this can truly be counted our most successful year.

From the twenty-six girls who competed for a place on the declamation team Margaret Allison, Doris Haggenjos, Helen Hynes, Dorothy Millikin, Natalie Sebastian, and Roberta Short were chosen to represent the school.

In the local contest Natalie Sebastian was chosen as our Big Nine representative. Dorothy Millikin was chosen as alternate. Natalie, with her declamation, "Fear God and Take Your Own Part", placed second in the Big Nine Contest which was held at Geneseo on October 28th.

At "All Boys' Night" which was held here November 22, Francis Showalter again won the honor of representing Galesburg in the Big Nine Contest in oratory. Eugene Bonham was chosen alternate, and Darwin Blomgren, William Daugherty, Clarence Hubbard and Harvey Young comprised the rest of the board. They were chosen from the thirty-five original contestants. The Big Nine Contest was held in Galesburg on December 2. "Frannie", with an oration advocating world peace, "The Christ of the Andes", won fourth place.

All of the forty-nine boys who competed for a place on the extempore team received much of their practice by speaking before the various advisories. Those who made up the team were Clyde Botham, Alonzo Clay, Philip A. Johnson, Harvey Young and Wayne Vermillion. In a dual extempore meet with Rock Island which was held here April 17, and in which Rock Island received the judges' decision, "Phil" Johnson was chosen as Galesburg's Big Nine representative. Harvey Young was appointed alternate. "Phil" competed in the Big Nine meet at Moline on April 21 and tied for second place. His topic was "The New Administration".

EXPRESSION PLAY

"All-of-a-Sudden Peggy"

By Ernest Denny

Although spiders are detestable to most women, they proved to be "jolly useful" to Mrs. O'Mara and her vivacious daughter, Peggy. The play is an hilarious, romantic comedy in three acts, with an English setting. Two of the acts take place at Hawkhurst, the Crackenthorpe estate, and the other in Jimmy's London apartment.

Anthony, the comically eccentric scientist, has invited the two O'Mara women to visit at Hawkhurst in order to help him with his book, "The Autobiography of a Spider". Mother and daughter both try to marry each other to this man who has a one-track mind—for spiders.

The haughty Lady Crackenthorpe is indignant, to say the least, at these outrageous proceedings, so she and her brother, Archie, conceive a plot in which everything is to be done "all for the good of the family." This plot involves procuring the aid of the handsome, but reluctant Jimmy who is to "dazzle" Peggy and let his mother take care of Mrs. O'Mara.

Poor Jimmy falls genuinely in love with the impulsive little Irish colleen, who proves to be as elusive as a will-o'-the-wisp, and as sudden as a gust of March wind. Affairs finally turn out happily for them, but not before Mrs. O'Mara has walked off with the grand prize—Anthony.

The cast of characters is as follows:

Anthony, Lord Crackenthorpe.....Bryce Bowen
(Fellow of the Entomological Society)
The Hon. Jimmy Keppel.....Ph'lip A. Johnson
(His brother)
Major Archie Phipps (retired).....David Arnold
(Lady Crackenthorpe's brother)
Jack Menzies.....Harry McClurg
Parker .....Thomas Shay
(Footman at Hawkhurst)
Lucas .....Ralph Clendenin
(Manservant at Jimmy's flat)
Lady Crackenthorpe.....Margaret Holmes
(Lord Crackenthorpe's mother)
The Hon. Millicent Keppel.....Frances Lafferty
The Hon. Mrs. Colquhoun.....Jean Fuhr
Mrs. O'Mara.....Natalie Sebastian
(Widow of Professor O'Mara, F. R. S.)
Peggy .....Dorothy M'll'kin
(Her Daughter)

Margaret Holmes (crackie)

The Orpheus Chorus

Although only a few of the fifty-one members of this organization can trace their ancestry directly to Orpheus, the name was chosen, when the club was organized, because the greatest musician of mythology was a master of melody and harmony who remains unexcelled and is therefore, exemplary. In an effort to equal Orpheus, the members of the club practiced twice a week during advisory period and, with the aid of members of the other chorus classes, several programs were rendered which Orpheus himself could have taken pride in as did Miss Terry, the director.

Members feel that their greatest achievement was the production of the operetta, "Bells of Capistrano", by Cadman. The quaint setting of an old Spanish mission in California with the romantic characters of Spaniards, cowboys, Indians, and college students produced a charming effect. Among those who played the more important roles were Jeanne Eldridge. Claude Crane, Margaret Ann Achelpohl, Eugene Bonham, Lloyd Hawkinson, Marian Kent, and Gifford Stoke. The names of all those who contributed to the success of the production, if placed end to end, would constitute a gigantic task for the printer.

Before Easter a sacred concert was presented at the Central Congregational Church. The candle-light service was very impressive. The chorus and various groups from the chorus entertained at numerous assemblies and meetings of the Parent Teacher's Association.

The Orpheus Chorus represents the first "singing society" ever organized in Galesburg High School as a club. It is hoped that the organization may be permanent.

This is such a public place for a proposal! . . . Girls, you are not allowed to throw snowballs within two blocks of school. . . Margaret Carlson wants to be the secretary of a real big business man. . . Runyon does not approve of girls riding on his motorcycle but during school hours he can't keep guard. . . Here are some grown-ups celebrating Christmas. . . Advisory 112 makes quite nice looking cannon fodder. . . We know these "birds" can chatter but will they drink the water? . . . . Surely Mr. Landon doesn't really need the stick. . . That Pepsodent grin! . . . The boss of these girls must dictate at a very fast rate. . . See the Mississippi canoe scouts. . . They are all set for a big football game. . . These young gentlemen were out to "Beat Monmouth". . . Would Betty Higgins and Margaret Carlson know how to use their brushes? . . . Francis Holst is said to be a secretary who keeps the minutes always up-to-date. . . Imagine everyone in 201 studying at the same time. . . Certainly these three little girls don't go to high school.

Photo Flashes

When you hear someone calling for "Louie", you can be sure that it is Jean Fuhr looking for Harriet Parks. . . Miss Nickel's advisory seems happy to be rid of their books. . . Can Barbara Tyler be a painter, a poet and also a dancer? . . . . Which are Georgia's and which Dorothy's feet? . . . Doesn't Eleanor Herndon look like "Madame Butterfly"? . . These three acrobats are known to eat Grape Nuts for breakfast every morning. . . This is when Duke met Luke. . . Could it have been these girls who knocked our famed tree stump over so as to take this picture? . . . . The Lake Bracken bunch all have good tans. . . Natalie Sebastian looks cool on the hottest of summer days. . . My goodness, look at the sober President. . . Behold, "Louie" Herlocker doing the Hercules act with Jeanette Higgins. . . Do "Dot" and "Tib" hope to keep warm with their gloves? . . . "I shall certainly have to see my lawyer about such an accident as this". . . This picture of Martha Belle seems so cool and quiet because the flaming locks are under cover. . . . This is Barbara Jackson and her dog who so often decides to get some education and comes to visit this institution.

In the Spotlight

This is one time when the Home Ec stairs were really full. . . Our girls' football team, though small, shows plenty of pep. . . Mr. Aldus is the man who so kindly fastens the girls' padlocks for them. . . . . The office girls are busy as usual. . . Every girl in this advisory is reading a last year's REFLECTOR. . . Who can "ye faire damsel be" for whom this gallant knight is fighting? . . . Do you suppose our grandmothers looked as sweet as Miss Cox and Miss Funke do? . . . Janet's car is always full of girls. . . Mr. Brooking, who is always ready to oblige, caught these poor little rabbits, merely to satisfy his son's desire for an Easter bunny. . . . . Miss Nickel, in her new flivver, departs for home. . . Mrs. Gale's advisory has the best record for tardiness. . . Edna Buck had quite a time getting Mary Cline to forget her shyness and let her picture be taken. . . . Is Vencel Stevens dressed for golf, yachting, or is he a gentleman of leisure? . . . The Budget comes to a real use; it is made into a paper hat. . . Mr. Gillespie abandons his football to take up a gun.

In the Spotlight

Hunting for ants is one of Louise Herlocker's favorite pastimes. . . Katherine Nelson is the barefoot girl "with cheeks of tan". . . These five Senior girls have V. S. as their initials. . . . Miss Page is the leaf between two branches instead of between the two covers of a book. . . These four girls put their best feet forward. . . . . Katherine Parkins enjoys a Saturday morning's sleep. . . . Jo Lowry certainly has all the appearances of being ready to work. . . Charlotte Hornbaker and Helen Krohn send the camera man sly glances. . . Our girl athletes show their pep, vim, and vigor. . . Dorothea Simmons is all dressed up and probably has places to go. . . . All are at work in Mr. Freeman's class. . . In Helen Griffith, June Cordell and Martha Belle Tennery, we have a blonde, a brunette and a titian. . . . Helen, Bec and Ruth are "three inseparables". . . The sleeves on the jacket of Harriet Page's grandmother are quite the style again. . . What big feet you have, grandmother. . . . Here we have the officers of Miss Ryin's advisory club.

Selected Subjects

Is it any wonder that Mr. Moyer has so many applications for the job of janitor if this is a fair example of their type of work? How many juniors can you recognize at this masquerade party? This is Madalyn White, who is far famed for her pictures of Mickey Mouse. Elsara Wallace and Kenneth Munson accompanied the chorus in their operetta. These five are real rooters for our high-school football team. See them planning the "dummy" for our Budget. The high school students attend a rummage sale. Climbing the ladder of education doesn't look so difficult. Mr. Landon and his flock are in action. The "speaking chorus" entertained the P. T. A. This is our high school quartette, accompanied by Kenneth Munson, who wrote the words for our new high school song. This picture won first place in the snap shot contest sponsored by the Reflector. Could the band be playing the old favorite, "Chicken Reel?"

"The Wide and Universal Theatre"

Our chorus operetta this year was "The Bells of Capistrano" by Cadman. "Giff" Stoke finally had his childhood wish gratified. He was a true cowboy who was not abashed when he was surrounded by Indian maidens. The three Eastern boys didn't desert the Spanish senoritas even when they were found to be rich. Several of the choruses are also pictured on this page. The Expression department presented our Christmas assembly. A series of pantomimes were given while Paul McCollister, as Reader, read verses from the Bible which portrayed the birth of Christ. His altar boys were John Shenuat and Eli Graham. The drama classes presented various plays during their class periods. "Medea" was one of these. The Agriculture Club presented "Spooks" as their benefit assembly. In the picture, where can the fox terrier and Johnny Maxwell's chicken be? Howard Johnson kept up a conversation with all these women by merely saying, "Thanks awfully", which, by the way was the title of the Girls' Science assembly. The Band and the Laurians invited all the students to "Bill's Rummage Sale". What! Is this a hold-up under our very eyes in 201? No, it's just the climax of the Lizzie-Franklin assembly.

The play is done, the curtain drops,
Slow falling to the prompter's bell:
A moment yet the actor stops,
And looks around, to say farewell.
It is an irksome word and task:
And, when he's laughed and said his say,
He shows, as he removes the mask,
A face that's anything but gay.
